Please replace the Abstract on page 24 with the following:

Summary

~~The present invention pertains to novel microorganisms of the family Lactobacillaceae, especially to microorganisms of the genus Lactobacillus, that are useful in preventing or treating diarrhea brought about by rotaviruses and pathogenic bacteria. In particular, the present invention relates to the use of said micro-organisms for the preparation of an ingestable support and to a composition containing same.~~

ABSTRACT

Novel microorganisms of the family Lactobacillaceae and pharmaceutical compositions, food and methods of using same are provided. The microorganisms have the ability of preventing colonization of the intestine with pathogenic bacteria causing diarrhea and of preventing infection of intestinal epithelial cells by rotaviruses. The microorganisms can be used for the preparation of an ingestable support and to compositions containing same.
